

ENVIRONMENTALLY WORKING.

At DIAMOND RESIN FLOORING we take our environmental duties seriously, we are always thinking of new ways to reduce our carbon footprint whether it's the vehicles we drive, the machinery and the products we use. We are always looking for new products that are more environmentally friendly without sacrificing on quality of the product. We work closely with the paint manufacture reps who help us find the best product for our projects with the least environmental impact which does not inflict higher costs to the client.

When on site we try to keep our impact to the environment to a minimum, here are a few things we do: -

- Dust is vacuumed up and bagged.
- All materials, machinery and welfare are delivered in one go to help with our CO2 emissions.
- All product containers are removed from site and taken to a certified waste management company for disposal.
- Resin spills are cleaned up using rags then disposed of and it is never washed away in to the drainage system.
